BLAMES RUSSIA FOR OBSTRUCTIONS

Deadlock In Non-Intervention Parley Pinned On Soviet By Italian Communique

By FRANK GERVASI
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, Oct. 23.—A flat declaration that Italy will make no further concessions on Spanish non-intervention, and that Soviet Russia is obstructing negotiations was served up to Europe and the world by Fascist Italy today.

An official communique, circulated by the new Italian foreign ministry organ, Correspondence Diplomatica, contained the joint declaration and accusation against the Soviet union.

Claims Russia Responsible.

Reflecting the bitter clash in the London non-intervention meeting between Italian Ambassador Count Dino Grandi and Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky, the communique virtually pinned upon Russia the main responsibility for the deadlock that has brought the entire Spanish neutrality structure to the verge of collapse.

Vice Exposure Shocks Illinois University

(International News Service)

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 23.—A sensational exposure of vice and gambling flourishing in a student "red light district" at the very doors of the University of Illinois rocked the school with a major scandal today.

Immediate result of the exposure made by the editors of the Daily Illini, student newspaper, was a concerted drive to close gambling places, houses of ill fame, and illegal beer and liquor resorts in the twin university towns of Champaign and Urbana.

The drive was launched today following a heated session between university officials and the police heads of the two cities held behind closed doors in the office of A. C. Willard, president of the university. Willard announced that any student found patronizing any gambling or vice resort would be summarily dismissed. He demanded that police report to school authorities the real names of any students taken in raids upon such places.

The president also demanded that any such students be held in jail until a representative of the university could identify them.

Butler County Man Over 100 Years Old; Visits Convention

Among the interesting visitors to the convention of the midwestern section Pennsylvania State Education association Friday was a young man from Parkers Landing, Pa. Joseph Bullman, Mr. Bullman is 103 years of age but as active as many men thirty five years his junior.

Mr. Bullman has a daughter and granddaughter who are school teachers and when they came to the convention he came along for the ride.

Until he was 85 years of age Mr. Bullman was a blacksmith and worked at his trade. At that age he decided to take a little vacation and for a number of years has not been in active life. He is remarkably well preserved, reads the newspapers avidly and is well informed upon current events of the day.

As a young man just come of age he saw the Republican party formed, voted for Abraham Lincoln twice and it is his proud boast that he has voted Republican ever since.

He is an uncle of William A. Hanna of the Butler road and spent the day with his nephew driving around New Castle enjoying the sights.

Let Contracts At Slippery Rock

Temporary Dining Hall Will Be Erected Immediately To Serve Students

TO CLEAR RUINS OF RECENT FIRE

At a meeting of the trustees of Slippery Rock State Teachers college, contracts were awarded for a temporary dining hall which will serve the students until a permanent building can be erected, and for the clearing of the site of old North Hall, destroyed by fire just a week ago today. This announcement was made by Mrs. W. J. Howley, following her return from the meeting held Friday afternoon.

The new dining hall will be located between the present chapel and South Hall, and is to be ready for occupancy in three weeks. It will be a frame structure, 40 by 150 feet. The contract for its construction has been awarded to the Miller and Dumbach company of Butler.

The contract for clearing the ruins of North Hall has been awarded to the Beauchamp-Reed company, of Carnegie, Pa.

Ground was broken today for the temporary dining hall and it will be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

Mrs. Howley stated that the trustees at their sessions expressed their deep appreciation for the splendid response of citizens and organizations in the district who have contributed to the fund to purchase books and clothing for the students who lost their entire possessions in the fire. One of the gifts received was $105 from the students of one of the other State Teachers colleges in the state.

Special Officers May Put Stop To Vandalism Here

Mayor Charles E. McGrath stated today that due to another outbreak of vandalism in the guise of pre-Halloween stunts he may be forced to hire special officers to apprehend boys in various parts of the city.

He said that police cars with officers have not been successful in catching a majority of the boys and he may be compelled to employ several police for patrol duty in plain clothes.

The mayor said he holds parents responsible for the vandalism inasmuch as they allow their children out late at night. He said parents should instruct their children to not damage other people's property.

PROSECUTOR OF JAMES GANG DIES

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 23.—The man who prosecuted the notorious Jesse James gang in the 80's is dead today.

William H. Wallace, who sent James' lieutenant, William Ryan, to prison for 25 years, succumbed at the age of 89.

Wallace frequently spiced rumors that the bandit leader was still alive. He saw Jesse's body after Jesse was killed by Robert Ford in 1882, and when the rumors arose, Wallace would snort, "just another faker."

Chest Workers Report Meeting Next Thursday

Change Is Made From Original Schedule For Tuesday Night

WORKERS CARRY ON THEIR SOLICITATIONS

Campaigners Are Determined To Push Drive On To Goal Set, $70,000

Community Chest teams, determined that their $70,000 drive shall end victoriously, will carry on their prospect solicitation until noon on Thursday, October 28, before reporting again, campaign leaders announced today.

They will not meet Tuesday evening as was announced at yesterday's report session in the First Christian church.

Workers Determined.

When $47,460.22 was reported subscribed to the 1937-38 fund on Friday at noon, the determined workers were $22,539.78 short of the $70,000 goal. However, their report of Friday—$10,025.97—was the largest of any day's report, and there grew out of that heartening rally a new spirit which seemed to charge the campaign forces with new energy. Everyone seemed to think that everyone would put the campaign over.

Drive "Powerhouse" Hums.

At chest headquarters, 37 North Mercer street, "powerhouse" of the campaign, the wheels of the campaign machinery turned rapidly today as the many details of a campaign were handled. That office has been humming ever since the campaign preparations got under way before the drive opened October 18.

Whether the campaign will end next Thursday noon remains to be seen, but those in charge of the drive earnestly hope it will. If $70,000 has been raised by then the drive will close, but if the $70,000 hasn't been raised it will probably continue on. For nine important welfare and cultural agencies are depending upon it.

Fire Damages Dance Pavilion

Loss Of Probably $1,500 Sustained In Blaze This Morning At Beach Club

Fire which started, it is believed, from electric wiring in the lattice work above the dance floor, caused a loss of $1,500 at the Beach club dance hall at Castle Beach this morning at 5:15 o'clock, Fire Chief A. P. McVine states. The loss is covered by insurance. The place is owned by Thellman Brothers and Son.

The fact that the fire was discovered promptly resulted in the building being saved from destruction. The lattice work caught fire and fell down onto the dance floor and furnishings, burning several holes in the floor and damaging the contents which will necessitate interior remodeling of the interior, it is said.

Johnstown Pilot Reported Missing

(International News Service)

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Oct. 23.—A Johnstown pilot, Robert Young, was reported missing today after he took off in a plane from Lockhaven Friday and failed to put in an appearance at Braebreeze airport, eight miles south of here, his destination.

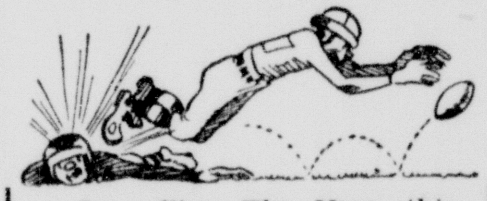

An intensive search of the district revealed no trace of the plane or pilot. The airplane was supposed to have landed at Bellefonte Friday afternoon, but an inquiry there revealed he had not put in an appearance.

Elizabeth Donner Married At Noon

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Elizabeth B. Donner Roosevelt, former wife of Elliott Roosevelt, and Curtin Winsor of Ardmore were married at noon today in the chapel of the Second Presbyterian church here.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Alexander Maccoi, pastor, in the presence of members of the immediate families and a few intimate friends.

N. R. Casillo Is Elected As President For Ensuing Year

RESOLUTIONS ARE PASSED BY BODY

N. R. Casillo, science instructor in the New Castle senior high school will head the midwestern section, Pennsylvania State Education Association for the next year. His election as president came Friday night when the sixth annual convention of the organization closed in the Cathedral.

With Mr. Casillo the following officers were named: first vice president, L. H. Wagenhorst of Slippery Rock State Teachers College; Dr. Wagenhorst has been president for the past year and automatically succeeds to the first vice presidency. Second vice president, B. M. Hockenberry of Butler; Secretary Don M. Wolfe of Geneva College; Treasurer, George Stover of Sharon. Members of the executive committee for the midwestern district: Gertrude Reed of Butler and W. M. Pollard of Clarion. Member executive committee PSEA for two years, Miss Helen Maxwell of New Castle. The site of the 1938 convention will be selected at the first meeting of the executive committee but it is thought New Castle will again be selected because of the adequate facilities here.

Successful Convention

The convention just closed was a successful one in the opinion of the officers and members of the organization. The attendance was large, the speakers were men and women of ability and the program was presented as planned without any hitch.

A number of resolutions were adopted by the convention. Confidence in the PSEA was expressed and Governor George H. Earle, his cabinet and the General Assembly commended for their support of "constructive legislation" in the past session.

Appreciation of the work of Dr. Wagenhorst, Superintendent C. G. Green, Principal Frank L. Orth, Police Chief R. A. Griswell, The News, the Boy Scouts and others who helped in the convention was expressed.

The commercial exhibitors were thanked for their co-operation, and the first four of the five proposed amendments to the state constitution were endorsed. The convention favored the abolition of child labor.

President Sounds Warning Today On Increased Expenses

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—President Roosevelt today warned agriculturists of the senate and house agriculture committees that if the new farm bill proposes increased expenditures for agriculture, they must be met by additional revenue from new taxes.

"It is, of course, especially important that any new legislation should not unbalance the expected balance of the budget," Mr. Roosevelt wrote Senator Smith (D) of South Carolina, and Rep. Marvin Jones (D) of Texas, heads of the respective committees.

Stengel To Manage Bees

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Casey Stengel will be the next manager of the Boston Bees, the Journal-American said today.

"Donnie Bush's decision to remain with the Minneapolis club clears the way for Stengel, who is Bobby Quinn's second choice." The story added that Stengel had been promised first consideration if Bush decided to reject management of the Boston club and that he probably will sign a Boston contract within a week.

Woman, Freed By Jury, Makes Plans For Future

MARGARET DRENNAN ON STAND

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 23.—Adjudged not guilty of the "honor slaying" of Paul Reeves by a jury which deliberated three hours and 21 minutes, a happy Margaret Drennan filled her parents' cottage at Iselin, N. J., with laughter today as she planned a "new, clean future" for herself and her unborn child.

"Oh, it's so wonderful to be free," she said joyously. Everybody has been so good to me."

In a scene which drew wild applause, the jury of 11 men and one woman which heard her case ruled that the girl should not be punished for the killing of Reeves, the married man whose child she is soon to bear. Men and women spectators shrieked and cheered as the jury announced:

"We find the defendant not guilty."

Japanese Fail To Take Tachang In Long Attack

Japanese Claim Threat To Shanghai From North Has Been Lessened

BOTH SIDES SUFFER HEAVY CASUALTIES

Nine-Power Conference Approach Speeds Up Hostilities In Shanghai Area

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Oct. 23.—Japan's threat to capture Tachang, north of Shanghai, has been definitely removed after 70 hours of continuous, bloody fighting that has cost the lives of uncounted Chinese and Japanese troops, Chinese military authorities claimed today.

Tachang was the chief objective of the Japanese drive just north of the metropolis. Once this center was occupied, the Japanese planned to attack the Chinese defenses in the Chapei and Kiangwan sections from the rear, thus driving the defenders from their strongest positions in the city.

The Chinese commanders asserted their troops are "doing well" in their counter-attack on the 25-mile Shanghai front, but admitted they were compelled to yield "a little" in the Kwangsi sector.

In Chinese Hands

Kwangsi itself, however, still is in Chinese hands, authorities stated. They expressed belief the Japanese will shortly change their tactics, abandon the costly attempt to capture Tachang and try to force a short cut against the Chinese defenses by way of Nanshang.

River floods which annually scourge China, taking thousands of lives, were turned against Nippon's invading hosts today as Chinese troops cut the levees of the Tushieh river and loosed a muddy tide on Shanghai Province's battle fields.

This strategy was carried out in a desperate effort to turn back the Japanese forces in the north as the Japanese high command claimed new advances along the 75-mile front north of the rising Yellow (Continued On Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

Attention of the Bureau of Water Spouts is called to the deluge of water that pours down from broken spouts in some of our streets and alleys. On some instances these downspouts are broken off near the roof, and in others they are broken half way down. In either case it makes it hard to pass without getting a drenching. Few like to be baptised by a water spout.

Bert Dinsmore has completed repairs to the North street bridge. Work necessary was principally on the sidewalks. Dinsmore, who has charge of the work on county bridges, reports that he has them all in good shape for the coming winter.

Ring-necked pheasants seem to be pretty plentiful in the country districts this fall. Floyd Cotton reports seeing an unusually large and beautiful bird coming out of his cornfield in Shenango township yesterday. "It seems a shame to shoot such pretty birds," he said.

Only about five weeks until Thanksgiving, when we are supposed to eat turkey, and turn our thoughts to the blessings we have enjoyed during the past year. New Castle, as a city, has been fairly prosperous; as individuals, each citizen must figure out for himself or herself, why he or she is entitled to turkey.

People on Mercer street thought some kind of a celebration was going on this morning when the horn on one of the United States mail trucks stuck. Nothing seems to make quite as raucous a noise as an automobile horn which blows continuously.

Postponement of the football game scheduled for last night was the first time in many years that weather conditions resulted in changing the date for a game here. It seems sensible, however, that football games should be changed when weather conditions are deplorable.

I really thought when the autumn came and the leaves came down and the chill winds blew, that my golfing friend would forget the game, that he'd hide his clubs for a month or two. But it seems the bug has him by the throat and he can't keep away from the grassy greens, and so blow cold or blow warm or wet, that's the place my friend can be daily seen. But wait till the snow blankets moor and fen and the ice is hanging like wisps of hay, he'll probably hie to the south-land then, its cool and its forty-seven today.

Nine Iowa Students Die In Crash

More Injured Likely To Die

Bus Load Of Young Students Hit By Streamlined "Rocket" On Crossing

TRAGEDY OCCURS NEAR MASON CITY

(BULLETIN)
MASON CITY, Ia., Oct. 23.—The death toll reached ten today in the collision between a school bus and the Rock Island railroad's crack streamlined express train "The Rocket."

Lillian Cedar, 15, Renwick school student who succumbed to injuries, was the tenth victim.

Mason City, Ia., Oct. 23.—With several in critical condition, more deaths were feared today in the disaster in which the Rock Island railroad's new streamlined "Rocket" crashed into a busload of students, killing nine and injuring 19.

Lillian Cedar, 15, suffered a fractured skull and was not expected to live. At least three others were in serious condition.

Others badly hurt were Connie Block, 15, fractures of both legs and internal injuries; Mildred Whistler, 15, internal injuries, and Clarence Hefty, 16, internal injuries.

First Major Accident
It was the first major accident in which one of the new streamlined trains has been involved.

The tragedy occurred in the outskirts of the city at a private crossing of the Mason City Brick & Tile Co. which the students, mostly from Renwick, Ia., and nearby communities, were to inspect as part of their studies yesterday.

All were members of the Renwick commercial class and had been visiting other industries during the day, going from one to the other in the bus.

The driver of the bus, Rex Simpson, 28, one of the dead, is believed not to have seen or heard the smoothly gliding streamliner approaching as he drove upon the tracks just ahead of the "Rocket."

The dead were:
Rex Simpson, driver of the bus; Dorothy Smith, teacher of English; Lauren Norton, commercial instructor; and Patsy Turner, 14; Donald Ammoson, 16; Norman Eggerth, 15; Lowell Kelling, 15; Albert Siemens, 15, and Jimmie Bell, 15.

and recommended a basic single salary schedule for teachers of equal preparation. It was urged that schools of the United States continue to stress social studies for free and impartial discussion of day by day social problems, in this period of world wide unrest.

Would Eliminate Exemption
The convention endorsed the plan to eliminate the Federal income tax exemption now enjoyed by public employees. Sympathy was extended to Slippery Rock State Teachers College over the loss of the girls dormitory by fire.

It was recommended that the future state convention of the PSEA confine the program to the House of Delegates and let the programs of the assembly and the sectional meetings be taken over by the convention districts. The final resolution pledged the teachers to press forward in professional zeal and service to childhood.

The closing program of the convention was an inspiring one. An all college chorus, composed of singers from the several colleges in this district presented a number of choral numbers under the direction of the following musical instructors: Robert W. Yingling of Slippery Rock, Miss Grace Murray of Thiel, Miss Gladys Rich, Clarion, W. L. Muller of Grove City, Karl V. Gilbert of Geneva, Alan B. Davis of Westminster. Organ accompaniments were handled by Clayton Taylor a sophomore of Westminster College.

Two speakers were heard Thursday night, Miss Mary B. McAndrews, vice president of the PSEA who spoke on "Recent Legislation, a Challenge to the Teaching Profession" and Dr. Elbert K. Fretwell, of Columbia University, who spoke on "Education for a Dynamic Society."

ITALY WILL MAKE NO CONCESSIONS IS DECLARATION

The pronouncement warned, Italy will refuse to assume responsibility.

Furthermore, the communique, issued with the full approval of the Fascist government, accused France and Britain of playing into the hands of the Soviets under pressure of British and French left wing elements.

International News Service learned the communique was directly inspired by Premier Mussolini and his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister.

The communique read:
"The clarification rendered by Count Grandi at Tuesday's non-intervention meeting did not have the expected result, because when it came to practical application difficulties arose due to the intransigent attitude of the Soviets."

Rev. C. Mills Tells Of Negro Congress

Pastor Of Local St. Paul's Baptist Church Attends Negro Congress As Delegate

Rev. Cecil Mills, pastor of St. Paul's Baptist church, has returned from Philadelphia where he was a delegate to the Second National Negro Congress. Nearly 2,000 delegates were registered, representing every state.

A Philip Randolph, noted Negro lawyer, was re-elected national president. The congress opened in Independence Hall, where the Hon. S. Davis Wilson, mayor of Philadelphia, gave 13 tape on the Liberty Bell, as a symbol of the 13th amendment to the constitution.

Among the problems for discussion were the following: "War and Fascism," "Trade Unions," "Discrimination," "Unemployment," "Anti-Lynching Bill," "Housing Conditions," "Farming Problems" and "Health, Education and Church."

Outstanding speakers heard included Hon. Governor Earle of Pennsylvania; Dr. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, president of Palmer Institute; James W. Ford and Max Yergan of New York City; Vito Marcantonio, president of I. L. D.; Dr. P. Y. Patterson, president of Tuskegee Institute; Dr. T. E. Jones, president of Frisk university; Rev. W. H. Jernigan, president of the National Sunday School; and B. Y. P. U.; Walter White, president of the N. A. A. C. P., and many others.

river, despite reinforcements which were rushed to join the defending Chinese troops.

Reinforcements Arrive
According to Japanese accounts, Governor Han Pu-Chu of Shantung Province was on the point of surrendering to the advancing Japanese forces, but Chinese reinforcements, supported by war planes, arrived on the scene and forced him to keep on fighting.

Latest advices said Gen. Han's forces were entrenched along the line north of the Yellow river, awaiting the start of a promised major Japanese assault.

American marines were endangered and 50 Chinese were wounded when a Japanese bomb fell in the American defense sector of the international settlement during a Japanese bombardment of Chapel, just to the north. American authorities protested to the Japanese naval authorities, who expressed regrets and promised once more to be "more careful."

Shanghai, Oct. 23.—The fortieth nine-power conference at Brussels, convoked for the purpose of bringing peace to the Far East, has now become the chief reason for the belligerents to intensify the struggle and extend the dimensions of the slaughter beyond anything yet known.

Chinese officials claimed today that their troops have killed and wounded 65,000 Japanese in the Shanghai area alone in the past two months. This is their answer to the Japanese claim that 60,000 Chinese have been killed.

Meanwhile, the furious struggle for control of Shanghai reached its maximum pitch. Both sides want above all to appear victorious during the Brussels conference.

Former Resident Killed In Sharon

Interurban Express Collides With Car Of Jerry Campbell Near Sharon

Word was received here today by relatives, telling of the death of John Campbell, a former resident of New Castle, and for the past nine years a resident of Sharon. Campbell was fatally hurt, when an interurban Sharon-bound express struck his automobile on a crossing near his home, Thursday night.

Campbell was rushed to the Buhl hospital in Sharon, where he died one hour later. According to the report received here, Campbell was crossing the tracks to put his automobile in the garage when it was struck by the car.

Campbell formerly resided on Mahoning road, New Castle, and for many years was employed in the tin mill here. Nine years ago he moved to Sharon and has been employed in the mill there since that time.

He is survived by two brothers in New Castle, Frank Campbell of 1017 DuShane street, and Charles Campbell, of South Ray street. Both of these brothers left today for Sharon where they will attend the funeral services.

Deaths of the Day

Funeral Of Mrs. Witherspoon.
Friends of the late Mrs. Charles Witherspoon completely filled the Bethel United Presbyterian church where funeral services were conducted on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. George Neill.

The North Beaver township resident had been liked by everyone and had led a useful, Christian life. A great abundance of flowers were sent from near and far by the many people who knew her and will miss her presence.

During the services Chester Kyle sang "The Twenty-Third Psalm," accompanied by his sister, Louise, at the piano.

Palbearers were Alce Leslie, Charles Dice, Frank Young, William Davidson, Charles Stewart and E. H. Witherspoon. Interment was made in Bethel cemetery.

Services For Mrs. Dorsey.
Services for the late Mrs. Frank Dorsey, of Wildwood avenue, were conducted by Rev. D. L. Ferguson, D. D., pastor of the Highland United Presbyterian church, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the Jos. B. Leyde mortuary.

Dr. Ferguson was assisted in the rites by Rev. Philip C. Pearson, rector of Trinity Episcopal church. The pallbearers were A. E. Lewis, Carl Wallace, Willis McMullen, J. E. Brown, Fred Lindorfer and Carl Lockard. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Scopinski Funeral Home.
Funeral mass for Andrew Scopinski, Mahoning township youth, who was electrocuted in an accident, Thursday evening, will be celebrated at 9 o'clock, Monday morning in St. Lawrence church, Hillsville. Burial will be in Holy Rosary cemetery, Lovellville.

Mrs. Ella Welch Boyd.
Mrs. Ella Welch Boyd of Orangeville, O., a former resident of New Castle, died in the Buhl hospital at Sharon on Friday afternoon. She had been confined there a week.

Surviving are her husband, Ernest C. Boyd, two sons, J. Welch and Carl Boyd, of Orangeville, her mother, Mrs. Abby Welch, this city, a brother, Albert J. Welch, of Erie and two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Lower and Mrs. John Loudon, of this city.

Funeral services are to be conducted Monday afternoon from the late home in Orangeville, O. with interment in a Kinsman, O. cemetery.

Funeral Of Mrs. Hunt.
A throng of friends and relatives attended services for the late Mrs. Caroline Moore Hunt, of North Mulberry street, conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Jos. S. Rice Co. chapel.

Mrs. Hunt was well known throughout the city and county and had an unusually large number of friends. The services yesterday were conducted by Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, assisted by a former pastor, Rev. W. W. Sniff.

Sam Lewis sang two beautiful numbers, "The Way of the Cross Leads Home" and "There Will Be No Light There" accompanied by Mrs. Kathryn Allen.

Leonard Hunt, Arthur Hunt, Willard Harlan, Lloyd Kildoe, James Patterson, and Stanley Frew were the pallbearers. Interment was made in Oak Grove cemetery.

Michael Cibula Funeral.
Funeral services for Michael Cibula of 12th street, West Pittsburg, were conducted from the home of his daughter, where he had resided, on Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Rev. John Zababal of Farrell, Pa. gave the services in the Slavic language, while Rev. F. E. Stough, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, had the English service.

Interment was made in the Oak Park cemetery and the pallbearers were Joseph Rokita, John Marinka, George Baran, Michael Lechet, Joseph Kapraly and John Yesko.

Robert G. Snodgrass.
Robert G. Snodgrass, aged 44 years, of near Moravia, North Beaver township, descendants of early settlers in Washington county, died at 6:50 a. m. today in the Jamestown Memorial hospital.

Mr. Snodgrass, who had been an invalid all his life, died a few hours after suffering a fall at his home in which he received a broken leg.

He leaves his mother, Mrs. Adeline Snodgrass, four sisters, Mrs. W. R. Dennison, of Washington, Pa., Mrs. J. R. Broadbeck, of Moravia, Mrs. J. R. Ross of Beaver Falls, and Mrs. C. A. Patterson, of New Castle, and one brother, A. E. Snodgrass, of West Pittsburg. Mr. Snodgrass, Sr., preceded his son in death not long ago.

Funeral services will be conducted on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the residence, with Rev. T. C. Henderson, of the Moravia Presbyterian church, in charge.

On Monday morning the body will be taken to Claysville where further services will take place in the M. E. church at two o'clock with Rev. Bert Jones, pastor, in charge. Interment will be made in Claysville cemetery.

One Injured At Harlansburg Today
Hilda La Asmer, 2624 Parade street, Erie, a passenger in the car of Fred Schmidt, 2005 Camphausen avenue, Erie, sustained lacerations of the face and left ear when Schmidt's car and that operated by C. W. Eppinger, Slippery Rock, R. D. 3, collided this morning at Harlansburg corners where Routes 19 and 108 meet.

According to motor police Eppinger stopped his car on Route 108 several car lengths away from the intersection to discharge several passengers, and then started across Route 19 and a collision occurred. He said he did not see the Schmidt's car travelling east on Route 19, before the accident occurred.

DEFENSE OF SHANGHAI

IT IS not improbable that when signatories to the Nine-Power Pact meet in Brussels they will receive aid in the advancement of their objective—the establishment of peace in the Orient—by developments now taking place along the Shanghai battlefield. These operations have during recent weeks been conducive to a more reasonable and thoughtful attitude on the part of the Japanese, who are encountering a resistance which they had not anticipated and in consequence are now compelled to contemplate the possibility of military defeat.

Nothing in the way of effective opposition is ever expected by the Japanese when considering aggressions in China. On the basis of past experience they have reason to believe that war against the Chinese is something in the nature of a formality. Accordingly, the Chinese defense of Chapei, the native city of Shanghai, has been a startling revelation to the Japanese and a source of amazement to other military observers who watched the constant assault of 200,000 invaders, with the support of great airplane and artillery resources, and have seen it consistently beaten back.

"For sixty-five days the Chinese in Chapei have withstood an intensive air bombardment without showing any signs of relaxing their grip," says a press dispatch from Shanghai. Quoting an American military expert, the report continues: "Perhaps no army in the world could have endured such frightful onslaughts as the Chinese have in Chapei. Nobody believed human flesh could resist such a devastating deluge of steel."

Decisive military setbacks may contribute materially in bringing Japan around to a more reasonable and conciliatory attitude.

WINTER PLANE SCHEDULES

The crash of the United Air Lines plane in the wild Utah mountain country was the most costly in human life in the history of United States air plane transport. The limited evidence available seems to indicate that it was caused by adverse weather conditions.

From now on throughout the winter such weather conditions are to be anticipated. If they are to be attended by a recurrence of the succession of tragedies that distinguished commercial aviation last winter there will inevitably be a decline in the popularity of planes for transportation purposes.

Of course, there are impressive statistics available to support the theory that the air lines provide a relatively safe means of travel. Scheduled liners fly an average of 6,704,000 miles per fatal accident. More than a million passengers were carried last year for a total of around 100,000,000 miles, most of them arriving in safety. These records, while significant, are not as arresting and as impressive as a report that nineteen persons died in the crash of a plane in a mountain pass.

Obviously, commercial flying must be surrounded with more adequate safeguards and among them, it seems, should be a greater regard for favorable flying conditions than for the maintenance of schedules.

MAUDE ADAMS IN PERSON

On the 11th of November Maude Adams will be sixty-five years old. Since 1918 this famous daughter of an actress mother has remained in retirement, save for brief public appearances, as when in 1931-32 she played for a few weeks on Broadway with Otis Skinner.

The star who for decades was the toast of the theatre, adored en masse by Harvard students, everywhere idolized and ever luminous, has now gone to Columbia, Missouri, hoping to show the girl students of Stephens College how "to integrate the cultural with the professional."

Whatever she says and does there, even her reappearance in 1937 justifies a cheer. For whether the theatre has advanced or grown more slowly, it was her life, her art, in those swift years since, as an infant nine months old, she as an artist made of it a true art.

Now Maude Adams Kiskadden is offering to share her talent and her flame of genius with college girls. The passing of Charles Frohman, her mentor, and James M. Barrie, whose Peter Pan she helped make immortal, can be forgotten during these brief theatre lectures. She retired in full glory; her star never set.

The younger generation, glib with cinema names, may be casual. Yet thousands of people still only middle-aged who saw her in all her splendor salute her as she once more steps from behind the curtain, speaking still vibrantly of the mystic glamor behind it.

PROMOTING GOOD GOVERNMENT

Milwaukee, long known for its low crime rate, its sound finances and its general consideration for the happiness of its citizens, has set the pace for other communities in helping to make citizens newly aware of their municipal government and their own places in its orbit.

Milwaukee has upset tradition by "streamlining" its annual consolidated report of the Common Council. By the use of good photographs, modern type and layout, the report has been made to resemble an edition of a fine magazine. All the facts and figures of a conventional report are there, but so garnished with the up-to-the-minute pictorial displays as to tempt the reader to look farther and farther.

So he learns what the city is doing for him. He learns why his citizenship is important. He sees where his money goes and how the city is advancing toward a debt-free goal. He has a chance to form an opinion as to whether the elected and appointed officials are performing their tasks efficiently and to learn who those officials are.

Opponents of this "streamlined" report shouted at the expense. But civic leaders pointed out that the expense was an investment which paid huge dividends in inspiring community interest and promoting good government.

Good government, they argued, begins in the municipality. So does poor government. And anything that can be done to encourage good government deserves applause and recognition, and, indeed, emulation.

Modern conception of neutrality is that you can fight all you want to, provided you don't declare war.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TIMID GIRL IS FEARFUL

"DEAR DR. MYERS: I am almost 19. I was graduated from high school last June. In September I entered a nurse's training school and am still here. I have discovered since coming here that one must have a pleasing personality to meet people and to win them over to one's self. Now this is where I fall down. I am quiet and retiring by nature and I do not mix well with a crowd. I can't even make up with my own classmates here. I try to be friendly with them and always greet them with a smile, but more often than not they rebuke me. That hurts me and makes me draw even more within myself. That always has been the case—even through my high school term. And when I am in a crowd there seem to be so many personalities that I do not seem to have a chance to express myself.

Is Sensitive

"Can you explain this fault of mine of not making friends and having every one I meet take a dislike to me? Also, Doctor, I am very sensitive, my feelings being easily hurt. This sensitivity is due in part, I think, to the fact that at home my parents are constantly wrangling and saying unkind things to each other. . . . I am also nervous.

"Now, Doctor, the question I would like to ask you is this: Considering my inability to make friends and lacking in personality, would you advise me to remain in training? If you were a medical doctor, would you choose me as a nurse to aid you in your work, considering these qualities?"

What I wrote her in reply: If you were a medical doctor, you proved skillful and dependable as a nurse. I would prefer you to the woman hale, hearty and well-met. I would feel sure that as you succeeded in the technique of nursing, you would lose your morbid worries about your personality and work and the patients you served so interesting that, unawares, you would be more at ease with others socially. Once you find yourself able to lessen the suffering of the sick, their response of appreciation should bring out in you a new and joyous feeling of worthwhileness.

But as you indicate, those who train you will be prone to value your ability largely on how much at ease you can be in their presence and in the presence of strangers. Stop thinking so much about yourself and your shortcomings. Think about your successes, how ever small. Try to get interested in others and what they say and do. Make yourself go places where younger folk are. Learn games and social skills that others will enjoy with you. Go to church. Join the Y. W. C. A. or a similar organization.

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I have decided after some years of serious thought that I am a Problem Parent. (And so is nearly every other parent I know.)

My children haven't told me that, in so many words, but I know it's what they think. I'm a Problem Parent. Their mother is a Problem Parent. And so are you and your wife. You can't help it, but that's what you are.

I used to think this was a new development in the history of the race, but I don't think so to my sorrow. I mentioned it to several old gentlemen and they said I was passing through the same experience that was theirs when their youngsters were growing up. Fathers and mothers are always serious problems to their children, when problems to their own children, I think back over my own childhood and I remember only one family in which the youngsters accepted the decisions of mother and father without question—and the boys in that family were "sissies" and the daughters were timid little things.

In all the other families Pa and Ma always were standing in the way of the children's desires. Not letting them go to school when they have colds. Telling them to come home early from the party. Making them mow the lawn when they want to play baseball. Refusing to buy sister that costly perfume party dress. Telling brother he'll have to earn the money for that new bicycle. Striking between them and their desires—merely because father's pay check isn't large enough or mother doesn't think they are old enough to do that, just yet.

In more ways than any parent knows or suspects, fathers and mothers are problems to their children. They love their youngsters love them—but why does a father or mother so often fail to "understand" the tremendous importance of what a young lady or gentleman wishes to do? Why are they so blind? Why are they so often "unreasonable"? Why do they tell their children that they're not old enough yet to drive the family car? Why do they treat a young woman of 14 as though she were a child of 12? Why, to be frank, do they insist on being Problem Parents?

I don't know the answer. I mean I don't know any answer that will satisfy the young men and women who are hampered by Problem Parents.

Heaviness in the heart of man maketh it glad; but a good word maketh it glad.—Proverbs 12:25.

Mr. Jones was a prominent member of the Elks.

At the breakfast table, the other morning, he was relating to his wife an incident that had occurred at the lodge the previous night.

The exalted ruler offered a silk hat to the man who could stand up and faithfully say that during his married life he had never kissed any woman but his own wife.

"And would you believe it, Mary—not one stood up."

"George," his wife inquired, "why didn't you stand up?"

"Well," he replied, "I was going to, but you know I look like the deuce in a silk hat."

EXIT TROUBLE
"And what sort of a time did you have at the zoo?" asked Grandpa Seth Wiggins of his cousin, who had just returned from the park's big exhibit of animals.

"Pretty good, but you have to watch yourself," said the cousin Gabriel Wiggins. "Those signs are very deceitful. Some are all right. Those that say to the bears and to the lions are all right. You just follow them and sure enough you see the bears and the lions. But when I followed a sign to see a new animal named the exit, I found myself clear outside the zoo."

Predicting a hard, cold winter is just guesswork, but it's just as well to prepare for one to save embarrassment and inconvenience. Laying in a good winter supply of everything has been one of the best old-fashioned customs we ever knew of.

One can never judge narrow people by the room they take up.

I think that I shall never see A poem as lovely as a tree A tree whose hungry mouth is prest Against the earth's sweet flowing breast A tree that looks at God all day And lifts her leafy arms to pray A tree that may in summer wear A nest of robins in her hair Upon whose bosom snow has lain Upon whose limbs we have made rain Poems are made by fools like me, But only God can make a tree.

Industries Look To Future. Overproduction Is Unsolved. Major Readjustments Needed.

By LESLIE EICHEL, Central Press Columnist

COMPANIES THAT BUILT new plants are wondering as to the future. If the new plants reduce the costs of operations, they are looked upon as good investments. If they were pure enlargements, they may be a liability.

Production for the past year has been higher than the national income and exports have warranted. We again have had to face that bogey of "over-production." Actually with millions unable to obtain all that they need, and some other nations starved for products, "over-production" is not such a thing as "over-production." But here again we have it—and neither business nor governments, nor unions for that matter, have reached a solution. In fact, none of the groups has made a serious effort to find a solution. Everything has been done on the old basis, with trimmings, but with added protection against the underconsumption.

Thus that old debbil "over-production" remains.

NO CHANGE NOW?

And there is no likely to be any change now. For economists believe the upturn cycle (under the old state of affairs) has not reached its peak yet. Maybe in another two years—

Ralph B. Wilson, vice president of Babson's, remarks: "There is nothing to justify the opinion or fear that we are facing a major readjustment. There is nothing to readjust. There are ahead of us either two years of wild expansion or four or five years or longer of real prosperity."

This prophet rules out wild expansion "because the administration has apparently made up its mind that the best way to prevent a depression is to prevent a boom."

MORE LOCAL EXPENSES

Businessmen jubilant over attempts to balance the federal budget are forgetting that the expenses simply will pile up instead for state and local governments.

Otherwise, people would starve, with the Roosevelt administration "saving money" on relief and public works, the only place it can be saved, several million unemployed persons will be added to local burdens. And, despite the assertions to the contrary, local relief is more costly—and more soul-wrenching—than federal relief.

Before the winter has passed even critics of the administration may be wishing for an unbalanced budget, rather than political wastage of money and human misery at home.

Of course, neither method is a solution.

WITH LOW PRICES—
If the public would cease to think of low prices as a calamity, if prosperity were gauged by the turnover and the net final result rather than highest possible initial price, then there might be a chance for greater consumption.

There are immense untapped markets in America—all shut off because the potential consumers cannot pay the price. There are millions earning nothing because the goods they could produce cannot be sold, due to high prices.

If sometime prices were permitted to seek their level—their perhaps prosperity might sneak in. Incidentally, prices soon may have great bargains.

A quick turnover for cash will be essential.

STOP SPENDING?
Many who shouted to the Roosevelt administration to stop spending, now are saying it in a whisper—and wondering.

The cessation of spending on an overwhelming scale has brought private business face to face that it was living on government does no less than the hungry.

Huge spending still remains—on non-productive projects: armaments. Some day that, too, will cease, or be much less. It will have to be in many countries.

We could afford to give away billions of dollars in goods to other nations to start the trade-ball rolling again, and still be ahead, if we ceased armament expenditures. Furthermore, the free interchange of trade not only would benefit us, but it might make armament expenditures unnecessary.

THE WORLD AND THE Mud Puddles

FOLLOW "POOR RICHARD"
"To each according to his ability. Rewards to those of superior merit. No security of tenure to protect or promote the mediocre man."

Those ideas were believed in by Benjamin Franklin. Not as popular as they once were, they are rarely heard in recent times. But they were emphatically voiced again the other day by the new President of Harvard University, James Bryant Conant, on his visit to California.

Dr. Conant believes it should be somebody's job to attract the best brains into government service. He also believes this won't happen until stiff competitive tests put a premium upon ability and exceptional merit.

And such ability, he believes, is relatively well rewarded. The way to attract the best brains, he says, "is to offer them not the security of tenure behind a civil service protective wall, but a fair competition for places higher up. We have too often given our academic prizes for the laborious accumulation of credits by mediocre people with retentive memories."

In sum, Harvard's young President believes we should let the youth of today know that the world needs their best efforts, and that it should be our job to see that victory goes to the ablest and most deserving.

I listened to President Conant say these things. While listening I wondered—the President of the United States is a Harvard man; he has chosen to assist him in his plans to regenerate the "forgotten man" many other Harvard men, notably, Frankfurter and Tugwell, whether Conant approved the vast expenditure of money to "protect and promote the mediocre man."

It is a fine thing to relieve absolute distress in a Nation, but is it a fine thing to endeavor to insure to the mediocre man that same return to which the man of brains is entitled?

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 23.

Once Upon Oct. 23rd—in the Eighties and Nineties, measured by the sale of his works, the most popular writer in the English language was Harlan Page Halsey, who was born one hundred years ago today in New York City. His name does not appear in literary histories now.

His name did not appear in literary histories then. Few of the persons who had caused the sale of his books to reach average of 2,000,000 a year knew what his real name was. For he wrote under the nom-de-plumes of Old Sleuth, Young Baxter, Louis Herbert, Wolf O'Neill, Judson R. Taylor, Halsey Page, Robert Taylor, Ward Westlake, and he was anxious to conceal from his friends the kind of literature he manufactured.

All the while, Halsey's friends regarded him as a businessman and banker. He virtually invented the modern pulp-magazine story, and made the fortunes of several publishers. Most successful of his pseudonyms and characters was Old Sleuth, about whom Halsey wrote 300 paperbacks. He produced another 150 paperbacks about other characters under other names, and a score of "society novels" read by persons who wouldn't have dreamed of having Halsey's paperbacks in their homes.

On Oct. 23rd, 1869—William Pryne, the drama critic who received the literary penalty on record for a contrary opinion, died. (Continued On Page Six)

Episcopalians To Hear Rev. Winslow

Mountaineer Minister To Preach At Trinity Church Sunday Evening

The Rev. John A. Winslow is the special preacher in Trinity church tomorrow evening at a service for everyone, but especially for all Episcopalians in Lawrence County, because the people of St. Andrews, New Castle, and of St. Luke's, Ellwood City, have been invited and the Rev. Samuel M. Black shares in conducting the service with the Rev. Philip C. Pearson. The time is 7:30 p. m.

The mountain country in the southwestern part of the state of Virginia is the scene of the work of the Rev. John A. Winslow. His headquarters at Dante, he travels over rough mountain roads to out-of-the-way places, caring for missions at Norton, Big Stone Gap, Nora, St. Paul, Lebanon, and Splashdam. He has three services at different places every Sunday and travels 1,500 miles a month. He is sent to New Castle by the Bishop of Erie.

Mr. Winslow's education helped him to understand some of the problems of rural life, for at Iowa State College, he majored in agriculture economics and rural sociology, taking the Master of Science degree. He worked for the Denver Livestock market as news reporter for the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Then, receiving God's call to the ministry, he took his theological education at the Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria, graduating in 1928.

A special program of music has been prepared by the Senior choir for the occasion under the leadership of Miss Isabel T. Johnson.

NYA Youths Are Building Traps To Catch Rabbits

Will Be Used To Capture Bunnies Where Too Plentiful To Supply Other Sections

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 23.—Five thousand rabbit traps are being built for the Pennsylvania State Game Commission by the National Youth Administration. It was announced by Walter S. Cowing, state NYA director. Traps will be distributed to all counties to be used in capturing rabbits in sections where they are plentiful and releasing them where there is a scarcity. Plans include the placing of several hundred in Lawrence county.

This is one phase of a broad conservation program outlined for Pennsylvania by the NYA forces in co-operation with state departments.

Protection of bird and game life during the winter months through building and erection of shelters and feeding stations is part of the state-wide movement. In numerous counties NYA units will also aid in reclamation work in state parks and game preserves under the supervision of state authorities.

TWIN DAUGHTERS ARE HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Robert Shannon, of McClelland avenue, entertained twelve little boys and girls at her home Friday night in honor of the third birthday of her twin daughters, Marilyn and Carolyn.

The tots came in Halloween masquerade and the prizes for costumes went to Barbara Marquis and Bobby Gardner. Distribution of balloons and noisy novelties added to the fun and the little guests engaged in a series of exciting Halloween games, the prizes for which went to Leona Heckart, Donna Patterson and Martin Hornung.

Then the delighted youngsters were seated at the dining room table which had been decorated with fantastic witches and by candlelight they were served a delicious lunch by Mrs. Shannon assisted by Miss Miriam Heckart. Nut cups at each place and a large birthday cake decorated with a "pumpkin" added to the pleasing lay-out.

Conclude Visit

Mrs. Fred Stoner and Mrs. Ralph Tanner of Butler, Mrs. John Hughes of Saxenburg, and Mrs. Henry Gibson, South Mill street, this city, have returned to their homes after their annual visit to the home of their only aunt, Mrs. Sara Douglas, of near New Brighton.

While there a six o'clock dinner was given on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Douglas. Others who called later were Edward Douglas and sons, Kenneth and James; Wesley and Chester Douglas of New Brighton, and Mr. and Mrs. Mont Tanner of Beaver Falls.

On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. David Douglas of near Ellwood City entertained in their home for the visitors. Hawaiian music was furnished by their son and daughter, Howard and Geraldine. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Great Thinkers Need Solitude

McIntyre Finds Time To Think But Cannot Concentrate On Worthwhile Idea

BECOMES MOROSE
RESULT OF REBUKE

By O. O. MCINTYRE
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—All great thinkers need solitude. And I have a swell hunk of it today—everybody is away. Any moment now I'm likely to begin drooping into one of my pensive moments.
Wonder whatever became of that kodak snapshot of me on a rock at Catalina, gazing out to sea?
With chin cupped in my hand, hair a bit tousled, and that faraway look in my soft brown eyes, you'd scarcely think I was of this world.
So ethereal, what?

MacDonald is not to catch my profile for his sidewalk cabinet. He'd do a turn-away business.
Wish I could think up something dandy to moon about, now that I'm all alone. I'm tired of that old one about the state of the Empire.
Oh, yet, a lot of people have been picking on me lately. For instance, that old pelican at dinner last night with the lorgnette.

Rebuking me before all those people for spitting an invective. That is what the lorgnette likely is for.
Just to snoop through the newspapers and see what poor dub has misplaced a whom, doubled a negative or scrambled a metaphor. Fine little hobby, that!

Still, I must not let myself sag and get too dour. We Scots often grow so morose we just sit sulking for days. The last time I put on a protracted pout was when my wife refused to go to a Walter Chrysler, Jr., cocktail party with me unless I switched from a yellow and green striped shirt for something in white.

For two days I just sat at a window looking out on a bleak roof-top, nibbling only a graham wafer or so and faking a Camille-in-the-last-act count when anyone came in the room. It would wring your heart to see the sad little wisp of a smile
I can stage in an emergency. One of those don't-mind-me I-won't-be-here-much-longer anyway things.

But my brooding never gets anywhere. About the time I think I'll have everybody on their knees with crying towels, somebody barges in and organizes a party to go out ringing door-bells or the like. And off they go, laughing and shouting:
"Good-bye Sourpuss, have a good time with your miseries!" as something un-funny says that.

Maybe I should try to be gay when left alone. One of the Happiness Boys. Wait, I'll turn on the radio. There's a rousing, blood-pumping tune. Nothing like a zippy march to stir up the liver and jack up the spirits. Chin up, shoulders back. I'll make out I'm just home from the wars. Approaching the triumphal arch. The conquering hero! Here I go past the reviewing stand. The Governor and the grand marshal standing at salute. Steady now, don't trip into one of those running falls. Look at the showers of confetti. Boy, is this a welcome home! Don't say anything now, but in making that quick turn in the front hall I seemed to have wrenched my hip. Sounded to me as though something snapped. That would be my luck. Trying to be all merry and bright and zip goes a puckering string!

But it will serve them right for leaving me alone. I hope when they get back the ambulance will be out front and they'll be carrying me out, wan and white-faced, on a stretcher.
Don't anybody mind me. I trust all of you have a glorious day of gaiety. Oh, it's nothing—just a slight touch of broken hip. I'll be home in six weeks or so. And in a year I'll be as good as ever. Pat the dog for me every day. It's no hardship to be plastered up in a cast, and not able to move. Suffering is my dish. I love it. Anyway I'll be out of the way. Nobody to fall over or sneer at. One less mouth to feed. Good-bye and bless each one of you. Drive on ambulance.
And don't mind the bumps!

I guess it was just what Grandma calls a crick in the back after all. Right where my galluses hinged. But I've had my fill of marching for the winter. I wish they'd come on home. Silly, of course, but it seems to me there is a funny noise in that bedroom closet. It couldn't be mice. I might ring for the elevator and have it wait while I take a quick peek. You know, zing zing and buckitty buckitty. And should you be in the outer hall, and see a pair of pants and coat flying toward the elevator don't try to stop them for I'll be inside. And you will know I took that quick peek and something moved.

Hints On Etiquette
The handshake should be firm, sincere and brief. The eyes should be directed toward the person with whom one is exchanging greetings.
Wonder what a judge would do if the man on trial should say: "When my statement is ended, discussion of the matter is closed."

Judge McLaughry Given Surprise

(Special To The News)
MERCER, Oct. 23.—The 40 members of the Men's Bible class of the Second U. P. church taught by Judge
J. A. McLaughry surprised the jurist on his 77th birthday yesterday. On his arrival home from New Wilmington, where he had dined with his sister, Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry, well known psychiatrist and head of the Overlook sanitarium, the jurist found the class members at his home. He has taught the class since 1920.
Judge McLaughry has just completed a 20-year term on the bench in Mercer county, a record for county jurists.

Have Important Roles In Senior High School Play

"The Things That Count" To Be Presented By High School Players

James Howley Beatrice Sandler

Beatrice Sandler has been cast for one of the leading parts in the coming high school play, "The Things That Count". She will interpret the role of Mrs. Hennaberry, the dictatorial and unbending old mother-in-law whose disregard of "the things that count" sets off the train of events that make the plot of the comedy.
"Sandy" is one of the outstanding members of the June graduating class. She represented her class in the junior year as a member of the student government assembly, is a member of the French club and had a comedy part last year in the school play, "A Pair of Sixes". She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Louis Sandler of Moody avenue.
James Howley plays opposite Beatrice Sandler as Mr. Hennaberry. It will not be hard to imagine the genial "Jimmie" as the "mild old man of sixty" which he reports is his idea of the role.
Young Howley is definitely one of the leaders in the high school. His list of activities is long and varied:

class president in 1934; class treasurer, 1936-7; varsity football, '34, '36,
'37; student representative; participant in leaders' club programs.
This popular and versatile young man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.
J. Howley of North Shenango street.

D. No. 5, tonsil operations; George
Cross, R. F. D. No. 1; Doris Ann Humphrey, R. F. D. No. 1, Porters-ville.

There are two classes of citizens: those who make a great fuss about things that can't be helped,
and those who boss things.

Librarians Approve New Certification

State Convention At York
Takes Action, Miss
Sterling Reports

Steps to set up a plan for the voluntary certification of Pennsylvania's public librarians, designed to improve library service were instituted by the Pennsylvania Library Association when its convention delegates, meeting in York, Pa., took formal action Friday.
The News was informed by Miss Alice Sterling, New Castle's librarian, now at York, that the group feels it is a very definite and progressive step in the library field in this state. Indiana has a similar plan, working successfully.
Certification, she said, is defined as "a method of establishing standards of the knowledge and training required for service in publicly supported libraries and of recognizing the qualifications of men and women whose education and experience meets such standards."

A CATHEDRAL ORGAN FOR YOUR HOME
The rich mellow tones of the Cathedral Organ now come to your living room through the magic of the Hammond Electric Organ.
This amazing instrument with its millions of tone colors, has brought new beauty and pleasure into hundreds of America's most cultured and exclusive homes.
See and hear the Hammond. Enjoy the thrill of listening to your favorite melodies played on the most beautifully toned instrument in the world.
The Hammond Organ was created for your enjoyment. Remarkably simple in operation. A PERSON WITH A SMALL KNOW-LEDGE OF THE PIANO CAN LEARN TO PLAY IT WITH EASE.
AND IT COSTS NO MORE THAN A GOOD GRAND PIANO

WILL YOU HIRE EXPERIENCE?
When you hire a man to do a particular job, do you ask his qualifications?
When you engage a surgeon to operate upon you do you investigate whether he has had any experience?
When you engage an attorney to defend your personal or property rights, do you insist upon a skilled man?
The answer is obvious. Of course you do.
As a taxpayer, isn't it important also that you inquire into the qualifications of the candidates asking to be elected to spend your money?
Your Register and Recorder must be a man of ability if your deeds and mortgages are to be recorded properly. As my present term of office draws to a close I urge you as a voter to investigate whether or not I am qualified to do the job, whether the job has been done efficiently in the past four years. If you are satisfied on these questions, doesn't it follow that the experience of the past four years is a guarantee of efficiency in the next four years?

New Castle And Warren Play Here Tonight

Teams Ready For Gruelling Battle

Kickoff Is Set For 8 O'Clock Under Lights At Taggart Stadium

Both Teams Eager For Victory, Extra-Day's Rest Helps—See Big Crowd

NEW Castle High "Red Hurricane" and the Warren, Ohio, Harding High gridders will meet tonight for the first Saturday night game in the history of New Castle High.

The kickoff at 8 p. m. in the event of good weather should find the stands well filled. The game was originally scheduled for Friday night, but owing to the inclement weather of Friday, it was deemed advisable to call off the battle until tonight. It was a very wise decision, because at 8 o'clock last night the rain was coming down quite heavily.

With a fair and cooled day promised by the weatherman tonight the game should find one of the biggest crowds of the year present. The extra-day of rest helped both teams. The Warren team will arrive here shortly before game time, from New Wilmington. New Castle is going to fight hard for the fourth straight victory over the Warren Presidents. Warren on the other hand will be fighting hard to upset the Castles for the first time, since grid relations have been resumed.

Have Skull Drill
Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh put his charges through a skull drill Friday afternoon. Many new plays were given over time and time again. Warren is due for a big surprise tonight in the way of razzle-dazzle. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner is making plans to handle a big crowd. The gates will swing open at 7 o'clock. The game is set to start at 8 o'clock. Tickets bought for the game last night will of course be good for the game tonight.

CLAYTON WILDCATS WIN
Clicking in mid-season style, Clayton Wildcats swamped Polesies, 35-0. R. McCartney and Pat McOwen crossed the goal line for two touchdowns apiece and R. Horcher contributed the fifth score. Pat McOwen received the ball on the kick-off and raced 90 yards for a touchdown. This was the second victory for the Seventh Ward gridders.

Challenphen, 24 to 1 shot, won in featured race at Laurel by length over Red Rain.

Natty Boy won by neck over Prince Sador in featured event at Rockingham Park.

Washington And Sharon High Tie

George Washington Junior high school football team and Sharon Junior high played in a sea of mud at the Washington field yesterday afternoon to a 6-6 deadlock.

The Sharons scored their touch town in the first half of a series of line bucks and passes. Washington had the ball on the Sharon two-yard line as the first half ended.

At the start of the second half the Washingtons took the ball down the field on superior charging and carried it over the line. Late in the third period the Washingtons took the ball to the Sharon one-yard line and were held for downs. Sharon had not lost nor tied a game previous to Friday.

Independent Teams Play Away Sunday

Local Elevens Swing Into Action Again; Game Carded At Mahoningtown

Local independent elevens will swing into action again Sunday afternoon, three games being carded. At Mahoningtown, the Youngstown Merchants tangle horns with the Washash Bears, the Keystones will motor to Struthers to play the Struthers Bears while the Koppie Buckeyes battle the Frisco Merchants at Ellwood City. Fannins of the south side will oppose Struthers Wilcats at Struthers.

The Fannins boast a collection of former New Castle gridders, namely Paul Small, S. Coppel, Albert P. Nocera, Walt Paikowitz, Mooney, Deep, Hortig and Brown are from Shenango.

Temple Upsets Carnegie Tech

Score Is 7 To 0 At Philadelphia In Mud, St. Vincents-Wesleyan Tie

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 23.—Last night, undefeated Temple kept its slate clean by capitalizing on a poor punt by Carnegie Tech to send the visitors down to their third defeat in four starts, 7-0. The Tartans outplayed the Owls but 12 fumbles on the muddy field wrecked their chances.

The favored St. Vincent Bearcats were held to a scoreless tie by West Virginia Wesleyan's Bobcats. As was in the Tech-Temple game, a rain-drenched field hampered fast play. St. Vincent registered two first downs to the invaders none.

Massillon Hands Steubenville High Defeat Of 13-0

Massillon High football team remained in the category of unbeaten teams last night at Steubenville, O. by defeating a powerful Big Red team 13 to 0 on a field that was a quagmire of mud.

Robert "Bobbie" Glass the Massillon All-Ohio halfback made one of the touchdowns and Snively made the other one.

Next week New Castle High "Red Hurricane" invades the Massillon High dungeon for a grid battle.

Refusal of Donie Bush to accept Boston Bees' managerial post reported to make Casey Stengel man to take over job.

Seventh Warders Score 13 To 7 Victory In Sea Of Mud In Ohio, Nickum Stars

Mahoning Junior High School football team wallowed and wallowed through ankle deep mud to beat a strong Struthers Junior High team yesterday afternoon at Struthers, O. 13 to 7.

Captain "Red" Nickum was the shining light in the attack at the Railroads, catching the opening kickoff on his own 20-yard line, the fleet-footed Nickum made his way down the right side of the field and crossed the goal line after an 80-yard gallop.

In the waning moments of the first period the Mahonings took the ball on their own 40-yard line and marched the ball down the field a total of 66-yards with Nickum lugging the hog-hide over the goal line. A pass Piccutta receiving from Majocha gave the Cowmeadowians an extra point.

Score On "Break"
The Seventh Ward men just missed another touchdown at the end of the first half, having the ball on the Ohioans 3 yard stripe. Struthers scored in the fourth period when they recovered J. Izzo's fumble on the Mahoning 20-yard line. A 15 yard penalty hurt the Mahonings and gave the Struthers boys the ball on the Mahoning 5.

An offside penalty put the locals back to the one-yard line. Seeman carried it over for the score. The first downs were 15 for the Mahonings and three for Struthers. The entire Mahoning line played a fine game. Nickum and Nocera, along with Piccutta were brilliant in the Mahoning backfield.

The summary:

Mahoning 13	Struthers 7

Warren Band To Play Here

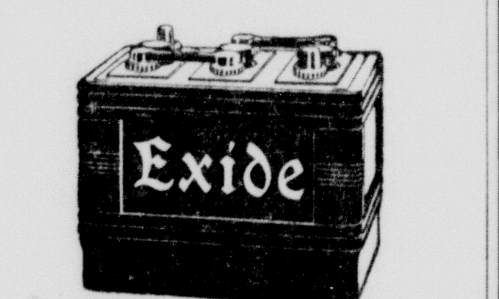

It will be another music battle at Taggart Stadium tonight. Warren High is sending its fine 75 piece band here for the game. According to Bill Klee, this is one of the finest bands that he has ever seen in action.

In event that the rest of the equipment gets here, the New Castle boys will wear their new band uniforms. There was not much chance though that the full uniforms will get here in time for the game.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Lou Brouillard, former welterweight and middleweight champion of the world last night at Boston retained his light-heavyweight title of New England in a unanimous 12-round decision over Roy Kelly of Brookline, Mass., Davey Day of Chicago moved nearer the 13-pound title at New York by shading Enrico Centuri, Italian campaigner, in a 10 round bout.

Byron Nelson bowed to Enrique Bentolino but Denny Shute and Henry Picard advanced through the quarter-finals of a professional invitational match play tourney at Buenos Aires yesterday. Shute won from Emilio Serra 2 and 1 and Picard beat Jose Juado 1 up. John Cruikshank, Argentine champion, won from Juan Martinez 7 and 2. All matches were for 36 holes.

Hunch players copped at the Laurel, Md., track yesterday. They bet on Great Blaze, a Glenn Riddle colt, which paid $11.90 for $2.00, after hearing of a Baltimore district fire. "First Alarm" backed after a "fire hunch" Thursday, paid $12.30.

Nick Wall, 30, brought home four winners on the Empire City race track yesterday. After finishing a third in the opening number and out of the money in the second event, the Boston rider won with Cattislock, Early Delivery, Count Edward and Continuity.

WANT GRID GAMES

The Youngstown Owls would like to schedule football games with all fast teams in New Castle and vicinity. The Fannins and Elks Club teams are to take notice. For games write to Sam Frachack 618 Loveless avenue, Youngstown, O.

Jockey Nick Wall scored quadruple on Cattislock, Early Delivery, Count Edward and Continuity at Empire City.

Temple eleven scored 7 to 0 victory over Carnegie Tech before 25,000 at Philadelphia.

Six Girls Will Try For Places On Grid Machine

Coach Gus Welch Of American University Has Started New Fad

Will Use Feminine Kickers For Extra Points And Field Goals

By LEON W. SHLOSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Once upon a time there was an Indian football coach who wanted a co-ed to kick touchdown points for his team. He wanted one, and he got six.

Gus Welch, star Carlisle Indian quarterback for Pop Warner 25 years ago, now head coach at American University, knew he was in for fireworks when he began training a co-ed to boot points-after-touchdown for his Eagles.

He met the onslaught of reporters and cameramen stoically, he meticulously answered the flood of telegrams and letters he received when his plan came out, but the strident cacophony of half the female student body that there were half a dozen of their number who could outkick, outrun and outpass his personal protege, floored him.

The diminutive Indian, who laughed in the teeth of stalwart gridiron juggernauts of the flying wedge era, blanching and buckled. "I guess," he faltered, "we'll have to give them all a tryout."

Will Get Tryouts
So, Monday afternoon, in the natural bowl which houses A. U.'s football field, the sextet will slip into moleskins and thunder forth to "do or die" for the right to be the first girl ever to compete in a collegiate football game.

Shaken by his experience, but nonetheless determined to go through with his now slightly complicated scheme, Welch took his team off to Williamsburg, Va., to face William and Mary today. His "kicking Ko-Ed" did not accompany the team.

"I wouldn't be able to come back, if I took her, I'm afraid," Welch said. "But next Saturday against Dickinson, or certainly by homecoming game a week from then against Randolph-Macon, our girl kicker will be ready."

"And we should have a better one than ever, with the fine turnout there have Monday. Girls are naturally more accurate and graceful kickers than men. That long follow-through they have, you know, like the high kick dancers on the stage, gives them this accuracy."

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Arkansas Vote Proves Puzzle

New Dealers Would Like To Have Someone Explain Miller's Victory

REAL VICTORY FOR OPPONENTS

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg. By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—New Dealers would like to have someone explain Representative John E. Miller's recent victory over Gov. Carl E. Bailey as Arkansas Democrat's candidate for the United States senate, succeeding the late Senator Joseph T. Robinson.

Anti-New Dealerism would like to have it explained, too. Not that either the "pros" or the "ants" had any particular preference between Bailey and Miller as personalities. Bailey, however prominent he may be in his home state, is not well known in Washington. And Miller has not been an especially conspicuous member of congress.

But Bailey campaigned as a 100 per cent New Dealer. Miller's record is partly (not absolutely) the other way.

"ANTI" A VICTORY In effect, it was a "pro" versus an "anti" New Deal contest, with the "anti" candidate victor.

(The Republicans do not count in Arkansas.)

Moreover, Miller won sizably and against a handicap; Bailey had the endorsement of his state committee. Such a thing hasn't occurred before.

they say, since the war of secession. Briefly, it was a coking anti-New Deal triumph.

No wonder the New Dealers want to have it accounted for in order to ascertain what's the matter with their cause in that "neck of the woods".

Equally are the "ants" desirous to analyze it accurately, with a view to assuring themselves of more of the same elsewhere.

LOCAL?

The Arkansas result may not signify much by itself. Perhaps it was only a local manifestation.

All the same, it perturbs New Dealers.

Dixie, to be sure, has not been considered ardently pro-New Deal. Being Democratically labeled, it has found itself exceedingly unwilling to turn hostile to a Democratically-labeled administration, but the New Dealers themselves have been perfectly aware that they were not over-popular below the Mason-Dixon line. They have said among themselves, "No matter; we are losing in the north to offset what we are losing in the southland." Nevertheless, they do not like to forfeit southern votes.

They have hoped that they were not forfeiting many of them.

Arkansas' vote limits that they have been doing so at an alarming rate.

NEXT SPRING'S PRIMARIES

Next spring's nominating primaries, for congressional seats, will tell the New Deal's story, as to the future.

Democrats will be nominated versus Republicans, as usual.

That will not matter.

The question is: "What kind of Democrats will be nominated? New Deal Democrats, or 'anti'?"

If anti-New Deal Democrats are nominated, it will be as bad for the administration as if Republicans win in November. Almost worse.

THE TEST

The real test will come in the spring primaries.

The Democrats will win in November; that is a cinch. But what kind of Democrats? "Pro" or "anti" New Dealers?

The "anti" Democrats will join with the Republicans. Or, rather, the Republicans will join with them.

THE DIVIDING LINE

In Arkansas, for example, John E. Miller, a Republican, will take his senate seat as a Democrat.

Democrats will take their seats as Republicans.

The whole thing is all mixed up. There is a distinction, however, between New Dealerishness and anti-New Dealerishness. That is the dividing line between the two new, but as yet, mixed-up parties.

Yes, Mr. Black, reporters are annoying. But remember how you made 'em squirm when you were the question-asker.

ARTHRITIS

Recreation Centers Proving Beneficial

Lawrence county's recreation centers, under the auspices of the recreation and education division of the WPA, are proving beneficial to the youth in more than one way.

The boys who are kept off the streets and kept busy playing and given the pleasure of making articles out of wood, stone, cloth and leather are the boys who will save taxpayers thousands of dollars yearly.

The recreation and education division is teaching hundreds of the underprivileged youths of the county, this theory being one of the basis.

The lads are deriving a lot of benefits out of the centers. At the centers the youths have an opportunity to play musical instruments and make useful objects with their hands. Social and physical recreation include gymnastics, volleyball, football, basketball, ping pong, paddle tennis, table tennis, badminton, horse shoes, etc.

These centers play an important part in the prevention of crime. And does it work? Les. It has been a revelation to the supervisors. Even girls are clamoring to get into these recreation centers to while away their leisure time. Ten recreation centers are maintained throughout Lawrence county for underprivileged boys. Approximately 1,000 lads assemble nightly to practice dramatics, athletics, handicraft and music. These boys might be spending their leisure time in back alleys and street gangs, were it not for these centers. Since the re-organization of classes, the back alley and street gangs are extinct, a checkup revealed.

Steering these young energetic lads in the direction of dramatics, music, handicraft and gym work is not easy at first. Their initial reaction is that these activities are silly. But once the impression is overcome, the boys go the limit and look forward to the evenings at the various centers.

Recreation classes for girls have not been formed as yet, but members of the fairer sex are insistent that the classes be open. The classes for boys are adding tremendously to the problem of the youth in the county. It is believed that there would be a greater number of crimes in the county were it not for the centers, thanks to the efficient staff of the education and recreation division of the WPA.

On Court House Hill

Karl Wright, Baltimore & Ohio railroad detective, formerly located here, but recently promoted to the captaincy of police at Newark, O., was a visitor at the sheriff's office yesterday. Wright has been in the service of the company for a great many years, and his advancement is merited.

Judges James A. Chambers and W. Walter Brahm will hold a short sentence court next Monday morning. There were several persons out on bail, who were not sentenced at the recent session of sentence court, and disposition will be made of these cases.

Will of the late Agnes Ryan of this city has been admitted to probate at the register and recorder's office. Decedent directs that her property be sold as soon as suitable prices can be obtained, and the proceeds be divided equally among her children: Joseph Ryan, Jennie Keene, Nellie Walzer, Margaret Brunton, Myrtle De Garmo, and daughter-in-law, Katherine Ryan. Joseph Ryan is named as executor.

Janitor Clifford James has completed the work of collecting ballots from the ballot boxes, used at the September primaries. The law requires that these ballots be kept for 11 months. They have been stored in a vault in the basement of the court house. Collection of the ballots saved the county the expense of another set of ballot boxes, which would have to have been bought for the November election.

There has been a noticeable increase in the number of desertion and non-support cases, which have reached the courts during recent months. During the depression husbands usually made the excuse that they could not earn enough to support their families, but in recent cases many of those who have been up for failing to support their families are employed and making good wages. In such cases the court usually makes an order, directing the husband to pay an allowance to his wife, through the parole officer.

Attorney Thomas V. Mansell has been appointed auditor of the first partial account of Michael Rosenthal, administrator in the estate of the late Harry H. Rosenthal. A hearing has been fixed for October 27, when the auditor will pass on any exceptions and re-state the account if necessary.

In the estate of the late Hannah S. Evans letters of administration have been granted by Register and Recorder William R. Hanna to Harry Lee Evans. In the estate of the late James A. Stewart, letters testamentary have been granted to Mary A. Stewart.

Lawrence county has now about 28 bridges which it is required to keep up. The number has been considerably reduced in recent years owing to the fact that the state has taken over the bridges on many of the state highways. In this city, however, bridges have not been taken over and are still being kept up by the county. All of the county bridges are reported to be in good condition.

AROUND CITY HALL

Hundreds of dogs have been taken into custody and quite a large number of them have been executed, according to the city dog-catcher, at city hall today. He said that whenever he catches a licensed dog at large he takes the canine to his kennel, ascertain the owner of the dog and returns it. He said also that apparently hunters are the best care-takers, the dog-catcher not having taken any hounds, beagles, spaniels or bird dogs into custody. He explained this by stating that very few hunters fail to obey the dog laws and keep their dogs on leash. His father before him was given the dog catching job but was unable to do the work so the present dog catcher started on that career. Later another man was assigned to the task, was attacked by a dog and died from hydrophobia. The present dog catcher has been attacked not once but several times and his hands show the scars of many bites. A year or more ago he trained a police dog, named Tag, to act as an assistant. The police dog accompanied his master and whenever let loose in a highway chased, pounced upon and held other dogs down. Numerous complaints resulted in officials ordering the dog-catcher to not take Tag with him. At present Tag acts as a guard at the dog-catcher's pond. Whenever any of the dogs break loose and try to escape Tag chases them and either holds them down or drags them back to the yard. The dog-catcher and his canine assistant have been sought by other cities for some time. He is one of the best dog-catchers in the country, according to officials. He is paid $60.00 a month. Whenever a dog is executed the dog-catcher removes the ears, forwards them to the proper bureau at Harrisburg and the money he receives for the ears is turned over to the city treasurer, so it can readily be seen that the city is not out much money for his services.

Whenever city detectives are not busy tracking offenders of the law they are stationed at the city building ready for service. They have a car of their own and are in a position to give good service.

City Electrician Rex Hughes, city electrician, stated today that as soon as aerial cable and controls arrive the traffic lights at North Jefferson street and Wallace avenue and also at Butler avenue and East Washington street, will be placed in operation.

All traffic lights in East Washington street must be re-wired according to City Electrician Rex Hughes because of a state law which states that the amber signal must operate between the red and green lights.

Collectors are collecting 1937 delinquent personal taxes. As yet City Treasurer C. C. McKibben has not decided upon levying upon those who refuse to pay. He is awaiting the outcome, he reports of the Pulaski litigation now in court.

UNIONE-CALABRO Members of Unione Calabro-Americana Poeta Franco Berardelli will gather in their club rooms, Division street, Sunday afternoon for their regular meeting.
